HISTORICAL NOTE

The ceremonial opening of Kamehameha School for Boys (KSB) was November 4, 1887. Military training was established at KSB in 1888 for discipline in marching in town, to church and for drill. Kamehameha Schools was recognized as a military school by the U.S. War Department on October 2, 1908. The National Defense Act by the U.S. Government establishing R.O.T.C. (Reserve Officers Training Corp) was passed in June, 1916. Over the years the Kamehameha Schools military training program endured several changes of classification and status, but the tradition of military training remained. The program participated in many military oriented programs and competitions earning several distinctions including Honor Unit with Distinction in 2001—the highest U.S. Army ranking.

On January 17, 2002, Trustees of the Kamehameha Schools supported the decision to close the J.R.O.T.C. (Junior Reserve Officers Training Corp) program. The decision was a part of efforts to withdraw participation from federally subsidized programs in order to give the Schools a more advantageous position during a period of many legal challenges regarding the admissions policy. The J.R.O.T.C. Deactivation Ceremony was held on May 9, 2002 with the participation of the entire cadet corps marking the end of 114 years of military training at Kamehameha Schools. The program was officially discontinued on June 30, 2002.

COLLECTION OVERVIEW

This collection is comprised of awards, uniforms, flags, banners and photographs representing the regular activities and experiences of the JROTC program, as well as material related to the deactivation of the program.

The majority of the collection is the awards showing the participation and accomplishments of individuals and the program as a whole.

The collection components came into the archives with no pre-existing order and have therefore been arranged into the series listed below. This arrangement allows for the growth of the collection as it is not static.
